

Stem cells in the kidney

Stem cells are thought to exist in the kidney but at the moment we don't know where. This image shows progenitor cells in green, that can produce the different types of cell found in the kidney.

Image: Luke Boulter